

Sharpen Your Skills

Innovation to Entrepreneur

November 12, 2009 5:30 pm

PSO General Offices 212 East 6th Street Tulsa

From Howard Hughes and airplanes to Bill Gates and computers to Mary Kay Ash and the color pink these icons were all innovators. Do you feel the entrepreneurial spirit in you? Come and enjoy an evening full of tips from a few of Tulsa's own innovators.

This event will share tools that will jumpstart your business plans and help you to continue meeting the needs of today's market place whether as part of a corporation or in your own company. Topics covered include:

- Product Design
- Intellectual Property Strategies
- Resource Considerations for Start up Companies

Speakers Include:

Marie Moran is a Mechanical Engineer who went on to graduate from Stanford's Master's program in Product Design. She currently works as an in-house improvement specialist for Spirit Aerosystems – the world's largest producer of aircraft structures.

Peggy Millikin is a Petroleum Engineer who went on to earn a Juris Doctor at the University of Tulsa. She practices in all phases of intellectual property with Crowe & Dunlevey with particular emphasis on patent and trademark matters. She has been corporate intellectual property attorney with Owens Corning, Honeywell, and Hercules.

Judy Vera is the owner of newly created Soaring Eagle Compression, LLC. She is a Mechanical Engineer with an MBA. She will share her real-time experiences of developing and starting her compression business, using resources available in Tulsa and Oklahoma.

Meg Broge is owner and founder of the technical recruiting and staffing firm Venture Technical Resources, LLC. She holds a BSCS from University of Tulsa
